to check the status of the cars. To my dismay, she informed me that two out of the seven cars had been listed for auction. I found this hard to believe given the approved overtime clearance for all seven vehicles. I asked her for a way forward, and she insisted that I needed to pay 3 million naira per vehicle for clearance; we later negotiated it down to 2 million naira each, resulting in a total payment of 14 million naira to her account (Account Name: Mrs. Fausat Mfon Elumelu, Account Number: 1012645669, UBA).

Mrs. Fausat later advised me to allow her to add the seven cars to the auction list so that all seven cars could be auctioned to me as the consignee. Believing her, I agreed. After some months, she provided auction papers for three of my cars, including the GL 350, RX 350, and MDX. However, when we arrived at the PTML, after we have paid for the 3 auction documents to the Custom account to pick up the 3 cars, we found out that the RX 350 had already been taken by an unknown person. She assured me that she was working with the customs officer to find a replacement.

Throughout this process, Mrs. Fausat continued to demand additional payments to expedite the clearing of the cars. At one point, she requested that I cover her flight and lodging expenses, which were not part of our original agreement. Despite my initial resistance, I ended up paying her 300 thousand naira.

Since then, she has provided a series of excuses, and recently, she declared that she was no longer interested in assisting me. To my shock, upon investigation, I found that all remaining cars had been removed from the port, and it was rumored that Mrs. Fausat had not traveled as she claimed. Furthermore, it is concerning that throughout this process, she used my company name only to register as Greatest Lion Venture, where the seven cars were auctioned.

Mrs. Fausat Mfon Elumelu has conducted herself in a manner likely to incite breach of peace and has threatened me during our communications whenever I attempted to reach her.

Given the gravity of this situation, I respectfully request your urgent intervention. My safety is at risk, and my business prospects are severely

Dear Sir,

PETITION OF OBTAINING MONEY UNDER FALSE PRETENCE, STEALING, CONDUCT LIKELY TO CAUSE BREACH OF PEACE
AND THREAT TO LIFE AGAINST MRS. FASUSAT MFON ELUMELU
(08032307396 & 09081155471) AND MRS. NONSO OBIJIOFOR

I, Mr. Adedeji Tony Busari, a law-abiding citizen, businessman, and resident at the above-mentioned address, wish to report the fraudulent acts perpetrated by Mrs. Fausat Mfon Elumelu and her cohorts, and to seek your assistance in investigating her and her accomplices for their deceitful actions that have caused me significant financial loss.

I am a businessman who deals on importation of car from different countries into Nigeria. In 2023, I imported seven cars: GL 350, RX 350, ES 350, MDX, SIENNA, HONDA, and AUDI Q7. Due to financial difficulties at that time, I was unable to clear the cars from the customs office, but I paid for overtime clearance, allowing the cars to stay at the port for over six months. I applied for this overtime clearance on 22nd July 2024.

On 24th November 2024, four months after receiving the approval for the overtime clearance, I contacted my friend, Ms. Nonso Obijiofor, we had a general discussion about business and she suggested having someone whom she can introduce to me. She introduced me to Mrs. Fausat Mfon Elumelu, who she claimed was a retired Comptroller of Customs. Mrs. Fausat promised cars include, Audi Q7, Lexus RX350, Lexus ES 350, Toyota Sienna and Honda Cross tour and valued at Ninety-Two Million Naira (N92,000,000) only.

Since then, she has remained incommunicado and unreachable, as all her known phone lines had been switched off. Her personal location remained unknown to date, while several efforts made to recover the vehicles from her had proved abortive.

In view of the above, I graciously urge to use your good office and instruments of law at your disposal to ensure the arrest of the fugitive and the recovery of the stolen vehicles.

Thanks for your understanding and prompt response.

Yours faithfully,

MR. ADEDEJI BUSARI

Then, I transferred the agreed sum of Fourteen Million Naira (N14,000,000 to the account details supplied by her.

Dear Sir,

PETITION AGAINST THE PERSONAL ASSISTANT TO THE COMMISSIONER OF POLICE KEM SALEM HOUSE LAGOS

We BOLOPE & ASSOCIATES, are solicitors to MR TONY BUSARI. Our client reported a case to your office concerning some cars which he imported into the country in 2023. He was unable to clear the vehicles and as a consequence to this, the cars went into demur age, following which he paid for over time cargo.

He approached Mrs Fausat Elumelu a custom officer at the time who promised to help him get his vehicles if he supplied the details of the vehicle and Fourteen Million (14,000,000) naira. He gave her all that she requested for but instead of releasing the cars, she in connivance with another custom official put the vehicle on auction list. She promised the cars will be auctioned back to him which never took place.

The above formed the basis of our complaint at your prestigious office, unfortunately, all the actions of the personal assistant to the the Commissioner shows elements of a prospective bias. He was instructed by the commissioner to collect the international passport of Mrs Fausat Elumelu but her failed to collect same. Similarly, the Commissioner instructed that a letter be sent to Customs head office in Abuja and an acknowledgment brought back, this was not diligently pursued despite all the financial commitments advanced. Lastly, the several physical actions of aiding the said Mrs Fausat Elumelu in not doing the needful to our client is highly regrettable.

We will like that a review of the case be done and thorough investigation be carried out considering the great discomfort and distress my client is going through over the said cars fraudulently stolen by Mrs. Fausat Elumelu.

Yours faithfully,

Dr. Opeyemi Aladetola (Esq)
